NOTES IN SEASON.

HURD & HOUGHTON announce for immediate publication a new and revised edition of Dr. Morrill Wyman's work on Autumnal Catarrh (hay-fever); a humorous story illustrating the "Wrongs and Rights of a Traveller," which will amuse and interest the public and the legal profession alike; and a cheap and popular edition of Broom's "Philosophy of the Law," lately issued in England, where it has had an excellent reception.

SHELDON & Co. announce for early publication a complete Life of General George A. Custer, embracing his Indian and Army Campaigns. The book will also embrace General Custer's War Memoirs, as written by himself and published in the Galaxy. The publishers of the Galaxy received from General Custer the last of these articles after his death, it having been written and sent while on the march in his last campaign.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. publish immediately the sixth and concluding volume of the Centenary edition of Bancroft's "United States." It contains a very full index, and fitly completes a noble standard work. Booksellers can "push" this with a good conscience; it would be a great benefit to the intelligence of the country if they could sell a million copies of it.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co.'s instalment for this week comprises Bayard Taylor's "Echo Club and other Literary Diversions," described in a recent number of the WEEKLY; the second series of Emerson's "Essays," in the "Little Classic" edition of his works; and "The Eve of St. Agnes," with some other of Keats' best poems, in a "Vest-Pocket" volume. All these books will be specially attractive to readers who appreciate good literature.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co. have in press Dr. Storrs' oration at the Academy of Music,

July 4th, on "The Declaration of Independence and the Effects of it." It is a continuation of his address, "The Early American Spirit and the Genesis of it," delivered at the same place, before the New-York Historical Society at the celebration of its seventieth anniversary, early in '75.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL has reduced the price of "Work in the Vineyard," by Rev. E. F. Burr, author of "Ecce Cœlum," etc., from $2 to $1.50 retail.

CHASE & HALL, Cincinnati, announce to the trade that they have reduced the retail price of many of their leading publications, covering their standard Baptist and other religious publications. This reduction, they state, is made to conform to the spirit of the times, and from a desire on the part of the publishers to supply their customers with valuable religious books on the most liberal terms. New and complete price-lists will be sent to any address on application.

JANSEN, McCLURG & Co. have ready "What I Remember of Early Chicago," by William Brass, Ex-Lieut.-Governor of Illinois, a history of Chicago, with historical and commercial statistics, sketches, facts, and figures.

PORTER & COATES have just issued the third volumes of their "Windsor" and "Falstaff" editions of Shakespeare.

CARLETON's Centennial tribute (a volume of verse for the young folks) and Ellice Hopkins' new novel, "Rose Turquand," are nearly ready at the Harpers'.

TRADE MEETINGS.

LEHIGH VALLEY BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

AFTER some little correspondence, representatives of the following booksellers in the Lehigh Valley met in Bethlehem on July 6th, 1876, to consult on trade matters: H. Maxwell and M. J. Riegel, Easton; H. T. Clauder, Schwartz & Weaver, and George Perkins, Bethlehem; Leisenring, Wexler & Co., S. K. Brobst & Co., and John W. Ochs, Allentown; and Fuller & Schlauch, Catasauqua.

Mr. H. Maxwell was called to the chair, and Mr. T. H. Diehl on motion acted as Secretary. These gentlemen were afterwards elected permanently for one year.

Among the rest the following business was transacted.

"Resolved, That we form a permanent organization to be known as the 'Lehigh Valley Book-Trade Association,' which shall have for its object the furtherance of the reform movement as set forth by the American Book-Trade Association."

A committee was appointed to prepare the necessary rules of organization, and a resolution adopted to invite all booksellers in the Valley to join the body.

A schedule of discounts is to be adopted after the meeting of the American Book-Trade Association.

The proceedings of this meeting are to be forwarded to Mr. J. M. Bailey, Chairman of the Committee on Local Organizations.

Adjourned.

HARPER &amp; BROTHERS.

In the list of subscribers to the Centennial Celebration fund published on Saturday, the name of Harper & Brothers appears as "Harper Brothers & Co." In view of the fact that of the original brothers only Fletcher Harper survives, and that the firm now embraces about a dozen sons and grandson, the newly extemporized firm name may be supposed to mean "Harper Brothers and Cousins." Such a title would not be more singular than are many things about this great house. The original firm of James and John Harper had no articles of copartnership. Each member drew what he liked for family expenses, and the profits of the concern were always reinvested in the business. No personal accounts were kept after the younger brothers Wesley and Fletcher were taken into the house, and the profits still go to swell the now immense capital. Fletcher, the youngest and surviving brother, used to say jocosely to his brothers that they cheated him by demanding $3000 for his admission to the partnership. The partnership is now limited to the male members of the families, the daughters receiving dowers on marrying; thus the firm is always to remain Harper & Brothers.

The surnames of the original brothers are continued with religious accuracy, so that there are several Josephs, two or three Fletchers, two or more Johns, etc., who are distinguished in the familiar language of their own counting-room by such titles as "Brooklyn Joe" (because he lives in Brooklyn), "Joe 22d" (because of his residence in Twenty-second street), "Joe Abner," the "Colonel's John" (son of Colonel John Harper, so-called, to distinguish him from "Fifth Avenue Jack," since dead), and "Fletcher, Jr.," and "Fletcher 2d," son and grandson of "the Major," who is never called Fletcher at all. There are several other distinctive nicknames which we do not recall. The firm have many of the characteristics of Dickens' "Cheeryble Brothers," including a veritable Tim Linkinwater in the cashier, Demarest, who does pretty much as he pleases, abuses the firm from senior to junior, whenever he feels like it, and is one of the best-natured and best-hearted and most popular fellows in the world. In revenge the firm occasionally conspire to play such practical jokes on Tim as banishing him for summer trips to Europe with $5000 for expenses, "only to get rid of him." Altogether it is a very happy commercial family.—Editorial in Tribune.

THE CONVENTION.

(Editorial Correspondence of the Publishers' Weekly.)

PHILADELPHIA, July 13, 1876.

THE Convention has dissolved—it may almost be said in a double sense. The weather has been about as hot as they know any thing about weather in Philadelphia, and it did seem as though the Judges' Hall was the very point of all the earth on which the sun's rays fell with perpendicular directness. That the Convention preserved its good-nature under these trying circumstances is much to its credit, unless it be said, as was partly true, that it hadn't enough animation to get up a quarrel.

Nevertheless, it has passed off with reasonable success. The attendance was much larger than most seemed to have expected, and included a good representation of all sections. And the members generally resisted the attractions of the Exhibition itself during the sessions and attended to business fairly. As the stenographic report will probably be ready for the next number of the WEEKLY, it is scarcely worth while to attempt any detailed report of the proceedings now. There was the usual Committee of Thirty, doing its usual hard work, under very unusual difficulties of thermometer. It met Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at the Belmont Hotel, and showed any quantity of patience. But little new business was accomplished, most matters being indefinitely postponed or gotten out of the way by reference to the standing committees. The heat was really not a little responsible for this, but it did the good thing of preventing over-legislation. The first session, Tuesday afternoon, was cut short in the middle by President Randolph, with the promise that if the Convention would adjourn, Mr. Ticknor would have an east wind from Boston in the morning; Thursday morning's session was demoralized in the same way, while the Committee of Thirty was not ready to give the Convention much business for its Wednesday meeting. While this did good on the one hand, it prevented not only action, but even a full discussion, in the important question of a reduction of prices. There was some sentiment against it in the Committee, but Mr. Armstrong's outspoken speech in favor of a reduction was so well received by the Convention as to show that its general opinion was for the reduction, a view corroborated by the approbation of Messrs. Osgood's course expressed to Mr. Ticknor by many members.

The usual motions of restriction and definitions (as to the retail-price rule, the time "large buyer," etc.) were put forward, but were most of them turned over to the standing committees. The report on the state of the trade showed varying success with the retail-price rule in various sections. Boston was discouraged, Cincinnati was happy, Philadelphia feared it was putting itself at a disadvantage unless other sections were willing to adopt its classification of "large buyers." The Arbitration Committee was requested to cover this ground.

A Committee, with Mr. Randolph at its head, was appointed to submit a revision of the Constitution; the only important changes were the increase of the Committee of Arbitration to ten, with a quorum of three, the Committee to hold stated quarterly meetings; the addition of a Book-Fair Committee to those provided for by the Constitution; and the provision for a paid General Secretary, to be appointed by the Executive Committee. It was decided, as a wise policy, to change the personnel of the officers entirely, so as to avoid getting the machine into ruts; accordingly Mr. Randolph was made Chairman of the Executive Committee, Mr. W. H. Appleton being elected President. The Committee lists are very strong, and good work is in prospect. Mr. H. E. Simmons is put at the head of the Arbitration, and Mr. Jas. R. Osgood, of the Book Fair Committee.

Among the pleasant episodes of the Convention were the speeches of M. Fouret, of Hachette et Cie., France, and Gen. Hawley, who were received as guests of the Convention. Tomorrow is the grand excursion to Atlantic City, given by the Philadelphia trade, when Mr. Kimball has promised to get up a breeze.

Ten works received one vote each. The winner of the prize is Mr. William Chilver, with Mr. C. T. Dillingham, whose list counts 143 out of 151, the highest count that could be made. This list contains all the works in the popular-vote list except the 6th and 12th, for which he substitutes Bumstead's "On the Wing" counting 8, and Barber's "Crack Shot," counting 6 the 13th and 14th on the list. Mr. John B. Fredericks, with D. Appleton & Co., offers the second best list, and just loses the prize by one vote, his count being 142. His list has all the works by popular vote but the 9th, for which he substitutes Newhouse's "Trappers' Guide," counting 2. Mr. W. C. Bush, with W. J. Widdleton, has the third best count, 140. His list omits the 6th and 9th by popular vote, giving instead Bumstead's "On the Wing," counting 8, and Prime's "I go a-fishing," counting 5.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HURD & HOUGHTON announce a new red-line edition of the poetical works of Alice and Phoebe Cary, in one volume, which will include Mrs. Ames's memorial of the two sisters, and be adapted for a holiday book.

OUR friend Aug. Berth. Auerbach very appropriately commemorates our centennial year by adding to his collection of American works an authorized translation of Higginson's popular "History of the United States."

THE Twenty-First Annual Report of the Board of Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools for the year ending August 1st, 1875, has just been issued. It is quite a bulky volume, and contains very valuable and interesting statistics.

LOCKWOOD, BROOKS & Co. will publish early in the fall the following works: "The Religion of Evolution," by Rev. M. J. Savage. "Light on the Cloud; or, Hints of Comfort for Hours of Sorrow," by Rev. M. J. Savage. "The Story of our Country," by Mrs. L. B. Monroe. "The Farm-Yard Club of Jotham," by Dr. George B. Loring. "Ancient States and Empires," by John Lord, LL.D. (new and revised edition). "Fifty Years in Sunday-schools," by Rev. Asa Bullard. "A Bridal Souvenir," by Rev. Samuel Cutler.

JOHN H. AMBERG, of Cameron, Amberg & Co., Chicago, Illinois, who has been doing up the Centennial, is now in the city visiting W. F. Adams, the general agent of the Amberg File.

THE Harpers' coming publications include the addition to their Select Library of Saunders' "Israel Mort, Overman," and a discussion of the saints and miracles of mediæval and modern times, whose authorship is rather negatively described on title-page as "Not ab uno e Societate Jesu."

M. THUREAU DANGIN has just published with Messrs. Plon a volume entitled Les Libéraux sous la Restauration, which, says the Academy, in combination with his previous book, Royalistes et Republicains, forms the most complete and impartial work in existence on the political history of the Restoration.

LIBRARY AND BIBLIOGRAPHICAL NOTES.

THE fifty-fifth annual report of the Mercantile Library Association of the city of New York, closing with April of this year, shows an unexpected prosperity in the affairs of the association, and a very satisfactory increase in the income of the Library and in the number of books added, which has been larger than for several years past. The total income from all sources was $34,907.02, and the total expenditures $34,903.62; $11,326.44 of it being expended for books and periodicals, and the remainder for insurance, rent, salaries, binding, etc. The total number of volumes now in the Library is 163,459; an increase during the year of 8339, and the total number of volumes circulated 190,829, the average daily circulation being about 625 volumes. The Association has concluded to make a new catalogue to meet the pressing need that exists for one. It will be arranged in one alphabet of author, subject, and title. The novel catalogue will be issued separate and distinct from the standard works, it being thought best from a pecuniary point of view.

BROWN University, at Providence, has already under way its much needed fire-proof library. Its walls are now rising on land given to the university by the late John Carter Brown, north of the elm-shaded grounds in front of the college buildings; it is hoped it will be finished within a year, and that the very valuable library of 50,000 volumes now belonging to the college will be transferred to it, and that all uneasiness regarding its loss by fire will cease. The new building will be built with great care, be very attractive in appearance, and give ample room for 125,000 volumes—or 150,000 can be crowded in if necessary.

THE Drake library is said to have netted $15,000, which was not much more than half its value.

G. SCHÖNFELD, Dresden, has just ready "Bibliographia Dantea ab anno MDCCCLXV. inchoata, accedente conspectu tabularum Divinam Comoediam vel stilo vel calamo vel penicillo adhibitis illustrantium edidit Julius Petzholdt. Nova editio supplemento aucta." 8vo, pp. x, 122. Price 5 M. Purchasers of the first edition, 1871, can be supplied with a separate issue of the supplement at 2 M.

A COLLECTION of works has lately been added to the British Museum from the library of A. F. H. Schneider, of Berlin. It is made up of Reformation literature and is considered unique in its kind. The works are 2000 in number and comprise "the controversial writings of the Reformers in original editions, the articles, confessions of faith, and formularies of the various churches; the conferences and disputations between different religious parties; psalters, hymnals, and service books." The collection is said to be particularly rich in materials for the history of the Anabaptists, comprising about 100 works of this class, many of great variety, and including a complete set of the writings of Thomas Munzer, the Anabaptist leader, who placed himself at the head of the peasants during the troubles of 1525.

A NEW reading-room and library, intended to serve chiefly as a library of reference for art and science, have been opened at the Crystal Palace, London. The original library, which contained a large collection of valuable works on art, was destroyed, it may be remembered, in the fire that broke out in the tropical portion of the building in 1866. Since then vigorous efforts have been made by the directors to restore the library and to render it effective for art-instruction. More than 6000 volumes have now been catalogued, and any visitor to the reading-room may obtain the book he requires by simply writing the title and signing his name on the slip of paper provided for the purpose, without, so far as we understand, having of necessity a regular ticket.

BOOKS RECEIVED.

THE RIME OF THE ANCIENT MARINER, by S. T. Coleridge, is the latest addition made to the pretty "Vest-Pocket Series" by James R. Osgood & Co. These dainty little volumes have become great favorites, they are so well printed and so daintily gotten up—and then one of them contains just about as much reading as one cares to master this hot weather. Cloth, 50 cents.

PETER AND POLLY, by Marian Douglas. (James R. Osgood & Co.) "Peter and Polly," the hero and heroine of this story, are twins, and about thirteen years of age. Their story opens in the spring of 1775, when they go on a visit to an old homestead in New Hampshire. Their lives are followed out till they are married and settled; the author giving some very quaint and vivid pictures of the manners and customs of the day. 16mo, red edges, cloth, $1.

CENTENARY MEMORIAL OF PRESBYTERIANISM. (W. W. Waters.) A history of the "Centennial Memorial Convention," which assembled in the First Church, Pittsburg, December 7-9, 1875, the last of the series of Conventions which have been held at irregular intervals at Pittsburg, for conference and prayer with reference to a revival of religion among the churches in that region. The historical discourses delivered at the meetings are recorded here, with a quantity of other data, relative to the planting and growth of Presbyterianism in Western Pennsylvania and parts adjacent. 8vo, cloth, $2.50.

MARGARET ROPER, by Agnes Stewart. (Kelly, Piet & Co.) Sir Thomas More, Lord High Chancellor of England in Henry VIII.'s time, and his daughter Margaret are the chief personages in this story. It is strictly historical, and relates Sir Thomas' opposition to the king's second marriage, and his refusal to recognize him as the supreme head of the Church, and his being beheaded in consequence. Margaret Roper was a heroine of private life, of beautiful and exemplary character, sacrificing every thing to her faith and her love of doing good to others. The story is well written, and can be placed with a certainty of both profit and entertainment into youthful hands. 12mo, cloth, $2.

HAPPY SONGS, by Rev. Elisha A. Hoffman. (W. F. Schneider.) Another of the numerous Sunday-school hymn-books we constantly receive and find it so difficult to individualize in our mention, as we can not arrive at the merits of the songs without conscientiously trying them, a task our limited time will not admit of. Sunday-schools are advised to write to the publisher for a sample copy to examine at leisure. 35 cents.

A LIVING FAITH, by George S. Merriam. (Lockwood, Brooks & Co.) The papers contained in this volume originally published in The Christian Union, are imbued with strong religious convictions of a thoroughly orthodox nature, and are written with great force and eloquence. The work is an excellent one to put into the hands of the sceptical and wavering, as it appeals both to the mind and the heart. 12mo, cloth.

THE CHINESE PROBLEM, by L. T. Townsend, D.D. (Lee & Shepard.) Dr. Townsend, the author of "Lost Forever" and "Credo," gives in this little pamphlet his ideas on the subject of Chinese immigration upon the Pacific Coast. Their clearness and soundness and freedom from prejudice recommends the little volume for universal perusal. 16mo, cloth, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

HOW TO GET RICH IN CALIFORNIA. (McMorris & Gaus.) This compilation, made up from several prominent works on California, contains in a concise, brief form, a remarkable amount of valuable information relative to the progress and present condition, gold and silver mining, and other industrial interests of the Great Pacific State. Also a description of the wonderful agricultural resources of California, and the many opportunities she offers for a profitable business opening. 8vo, paper.

IDA CRAVEN, by Mrs. H. M. Cadell. (Henry Holt & Co.) Ida Craven is a young English girl who marries an officer in the English army, and goes with him to live in India. Her life there is very vividly described, and the dangerous condition of the country at the time (about the year 1853) presented in a very real and striking manner. Ida Craven's own story is very pretty and touching. The work as a whole is full of clever points, and more than ordinarily readable. We can not recall another novel which describes in so picturesque a manner Anglo-Indian ways and customs. 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

EARLY MAN IN EUROPE, by Charles Rau. (Harper & Brothers.) These sketches, published last year in Harper's Magazine, offer in a condensed form, to those who have neither the occasion nor time for perusing the more extensive works treating of the primitive condition of man, a general knowledge of the subject. They are well and fully illustrated, and have been brought up to date by such additions and alterations as the progressive character of prehistoric investigations in Europe demanded. They can be recommended as rich in interest, and very comprehensive and concise. 8vo, cloth, $2.50.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

A. WILLIAMS & Co., of Boston, have just published for the Appalachian Mountain Club No. 1, June number of Appalachia, a new candidate for popular favor, especially among the myriad lovers of the mountains of New England and the adjacent regions. The club will carry on a systematic exploration of these well-known hills, encourage the opening of new paths, clearing of summits from which views may be obtained, and other improvements. The present number contains a fine new map of the White Mountains, suggestions of work proposed for the summer, the constitution and list of members of the club, etc. We commend it to all the lovers of mountain scenery in all sections of the United States.
